8. JOURNALS OF THE UNIVERSITY

MNLU, Contemporary Law Review (CLR) Volume 4 Number I: MNLU, Nagpur Contemporary Law Review (CLR) is a faculty run, biannual, blind peer-reviewed flagship journal of Maharashtra National Law University, Nagpur bearing the International Standard Serial Number (ISSN) 2581-7582 and RNI No. MAHENG/2018/76048. The primary objective of this journal is to serve the academic community with original and outstanding contributions in the field of law and its allied disciplines, which delve into the issues most predominantly affecting the society. It aims to serve those who are seeking holistic insight into the idea of justice in this rapidly evolving contemporary era.

By providing a platform for high quality legal scholarship, the journal endeavours to fuel reflection, spark conversations and debates, and ultimately result in action, by researchers, scholars, members of the bar and the bench, jurists, administrators, the civil society, and the policy makers. Though in its nascent stage, the University has published five issues of CLR through its rigorous selection and editing process. CLR has taken tremendous leaps forward in interdisciplinary legal research. This is due, in great part, to the laudable contributions of stalwart academicians, scholars and professionals as its contribution included papers authored by prominent leaders of Indian legal education. With each new issue, the journal has pushed past boundaries and ventured into new expanses of research and knowledge resting on the shoulders of experts in the field of law and its allied disciplines. MNLU, Contemporary Law Review (CLR) Volume 4 Number I, was virtually released at the august hands of Hon'ble Shri Justice B.R. Gavai, Judge, Supreme Court of India.
